| Drew Primary SchoolOutdoor Learning andOutreach Programme         | The project aims to enhance the curriculum-based learning of pupils by delivering teaching in an exciting environment that will increase engagement, imagination, creativity and inquisition, while also aiding in stress relief and so promoting wellbeing in all those involved. The project will deliver a forest school to help the children and, through them, the wider community to connect with outside and more natural spaces. As well as physical and mental wellbeing, the project will promote and benefit the environment and make those involved more conscientious global citizens, aware of the natural environment and our impact on it. Depending upon progression of the school's building project, pupils will be able to use the completed forest school area for outdoor learning and after school clubs. The community will be able to use the forest school for workshops run by/through the school.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | £21,000 |

| Drew Primary SchoolOutdoor Learning andOutreach Programme       | The project aims to enhance the curriculum-based learning of pupils by delivering teaching in an exciting environment that will increase engagement, imagination, creativity and inquisition, all while also aiding in stress relief and so promoting wellbeing in all those involved. The project will develop a forest school to help the children and, through them, the wider community to connect with outside and more natural spaces. As well as physical and mental wellbeing the project will promote and benefit the environment and make those involved more conscientious global citizens, aware of the natural environment and our impact on it. Depending on progression of the school's building project, pupils will be able to use the completed forest school area for outdoor learning and after school clubs. The community will be able to use the forest school for workshops run by/through the school.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | £21,000 |

| Middlesex UniversityAngel of the Prisons –Theatre Project       | The project aims to continue to build on and strengthen/extend the success of the RDT-funded 'Newham Quartet' of localist-focussed plays, i.e., When Chaplin Met Gandhi, Revolution Farm, A Splotch of Red: Keir Hardie in West Ham and Alice in Canning Town, which involved Newham primary and secondary school pupils acting alongside professional actors and actively and fully engaging in the making of a professional theatre show. Young people will work with professional actors and an experienced director and writer to develop the play to full production, including working with acting specialists in speech/voice, movement, and with production personnel in design, costume, sound and movement. There will be a week of performances in August, including matinee and weekend showings. The project will produce publicity/marketing in the form of flyers and social media presence to advertise and publicize the show, especially locally, in Canning Town and Royal Docks. | £20,000 |

| West Silvertown VillageCommunity FoundationYouth Project | The project will provide a mentoring programme for at least 40 local young people aged 14-15 and a weekly pre-teen youth club and football activity.
